1.2. DEFINITION OF THE PROBLEM, NEEDS ASSESSMENT AND OBJECTIVES OF THE PROJECT

What are the problems and/or the current situation? Which are the needs that the project aims to address?

In relation to these problems and needs, what are the major objectives that the project should attain? Who are the target group(s) of your activities and why were they chosen?

Note:

You are expected to provide here a needs assessment for your proposed activities. Such needs assessment should include relevant and reliable data and should contain a robust analysis clearly demonstrating the need for the action. The applicant can refer to existing research, studies, previous projects which had already identified the need. The needs assessment must make it clear to what extent the action will meet the need and this shall be quantified. You are requested to be specific and focus on the actual needs that your project will aim to address and not limit the analysis to general statements and information about the problems and needs of the target group in general.

Combating racism, intolerance and hate crimes has not always been a priority in Greece. However, in the past few years there has been a strong will to recognize and combat these phenomena. For instance, according to official records, 184 incidents with a potential bias motivation have been recorded in 2017 by police authorities. The data recorded by Racist Violence Recording Network (RVRN), a network of NGOs established by the National Commission for Human Rights and UNHCR/Greece report 102 incidents. It is the first time that the incidents recorded by state authorities are more than the incidents recorded by civil society organizations. This fact demonstrates that the authorities are more alert on combating hate crimes and that the recording system put in place by the Police and the Ministry of Justice since 2013 has been producing results.

Concerning the fight against racism, intolerance and hate crimes, a series of measures have been adopted in Greece in the past few years. The respective legislative framework has been strengthened. Additionally, institutional and operational measures have been adopted to increase reporting and recording of hate crimes. For instance, the legislation on hate crimes has been amended in order to facilitate its implementation. Moreover, the National Council against Racism and Intolerance (NCRI) has been established, which a body consisting of representatives of the Ministries involved, of the National Commission for Human Rights, of UNHCR, of RVRN and other important stakeholders of the civil society. According to its mandate, one of its main tasks is the development of a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crimes. In order to produce a valid and comprehensive strategy and take into account all relevant recommendations and international standards, the drafting of the strategy is included in the present application's deliverables. Moreover, such a strategy will build on the results of the project "Building a Comprehensive Criminal Justice Response to Hate Crimes" which was conducted by the Hellenic Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights in cooperation with the Office of Democratic Institutions and Human Rights of OSCE in the context of «JUST/2015/RRAC/AG, Action grants to prevent and combat racism, xenophobia, homophobia and other forms of intolerance, RIGHTS, EQUALITY AND CITIZENSHIP/JUSTICE PROGRAMME (2014-2020)».

In addition to the above, measures have been adopted to improve reporting and recording of hate crimes. For instance, legislative measures have been adopted to facilitate reporting by migrants. This has been considered of great importance, given the high numbers of migrants and asylum seekers arriving to Greece since 2015. However, more needs to be done to increase awareness and urge reporting of hate crimes. A need expressed by the communities themselves is to be informed of victims' rights. For this reason, a Guide for the Rights of Hate Crime Victims (translated in nine languages) is included in the present application. Recording of hate crimes has also improved on the one hand because of the role of civil society and especially RVRN, but also because of the efforts of the Hellenic Police and the Ministry of Justice to record all crimes with a possible bias motivation. The aforementioned project implemented with ODIHR has already produced results in this direction. For example, the Supreme Court Prosecutor has recently issued guidelines to all prosecutors in order to improve recording of hate crimes through a flagging system.

Moreover, the need to express a "zero tolerance" state policy towards racism, intolerance and hate crimes and the need to increase awareness-raising within the Greek society has been identified. This will be achieved through an effective media campaign concerning these phenomena, which has never been conducted before. Therefore, this aspect is also included in the present application.

Last but not least, the need to increase awareness of the Members of the Parliament (MPs) against racism, intolerance and hate speech is considered paramount, given the role of the Parliament, but also of politicians in general. For example, recent legislative initiatives concerning the LGBT community, like the Law on Registered Partnership which was extended to same sex couples or the Law on Legal Gender Recognition for transgender persons, triggered hate and homophobic speech, both within and outside the Parliament. The role of politicians to combat hate speech, but also to promote legislative initiatives that fight racism and discrimination is considered extremely important. For these reasons and taken into consideration that an Agreement for a comprehensive response to hate crimes has been concluded in the context of the aforementioned project between the Administration, the Judiciary and Civil Society, the involvement of the Parliament will fill in the gap for a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crimes. MPs and politicians are expected to realize the consequences of hate speech and to integrate counter-speech narratives in public speech. Moreover, the need to take into consideration multicultural inclusion and diversity in decision making will also be emphasized. In addition, the need for capacity and trust building for the targeted communities and respective NGOs is also taken into account.

The objectives are:

- To form a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crime
- To express a zero tolerance state policy towards racism, intolerance and hate crimes
- To fill in the gaps and respond to the needs identified from previous experience, such as the implementation of the project "Building a Comprehensive Criminal Justice Response to Hate Crimes"
- To improve reporting of hate crimes by disseminating hate crime victims' rights
- To raise public awareness
- To promote capacity building for prosecutors, public officers and MPs, as well as targeted communities
- To induce trust building of targeted communities towards the judiciary and law-enforcement authorities
- To effectively prosecute hate crimes
- To combat hate speech.

1.3. RELEVANCE AND JUSTIFICATION

(max. 4000 characters)

How does your project address the call priority under which you are applying? What is the project's contribution in this area?

What are the innovative aspects of the project?

It is well known that the Rights, Equality and Citizenship Programme 2014-2020 aims at contributing to the further development of an area where equality and the rights of persons, as enshrined in the Treaty, the Charter and international human rights conventions, are promoted and protected. In particular, the present call aims at preventing and combating racism, xenophobia and other forms of intolerance, and improving public authorities' responses to hate crime and hate speech. The project's main purpose is to fight racism and intolerance, to effectively prosecute hate crimes and combat hate speech.

The project builds on the lessons learned and on the needs identified through our participation to the above mentioned project "Building a Comprehensive Criminal Justice Response to Hate Crimes". By designing a comprehensive strategy through a National Action Plan, Greece will achieve better implementation of respective national legislation, including the Framework Decision 2008/913/JHA. This will be the first time that such a comprehensive strategy is drafted in Greece. Additionally, this initiative includes development of institutional actions that widens and strengthens individual rights and freedoms and empowers the function of the democratic institutions in general.

Moreover, an awareness raising campaign is considered necessary in order to raise public awareness and to convey a strong message of a "zero tolerance" state policy. In addition, based on the findings of the aforementioned project, we aim to foster capacity building of all actors involved and to develop tools for addressing under-reporting of hate crimes.

The involvement of members of the Hellenic Parliament will guarantee the effectiveness of future legislation in this field and its compliance with international standards. It will also ensure increased awareness in public discourse against hate speech.

The trainings for public prosecutors will enhance their ability to effectively prosecute hate crimes. The capacity building activities for targeted communities (e.g. the Guide for the Rights of Victims of Hate Crimes) are tools to address under-reporting, which is a key objective of the present call.

Another aspect which was considered important based on our previous experience, was the need to increase trust from targeted communities towards the judiciary and law enforcement agents. The project promotes also the capacity of public officers to create an effective comprehensive strategy against racism and intolerance. In addition to the above, our proposal aims at enhancing Greece's role in the field of combating racism, xenophobia and other forms of intolerance in Europe, taking into consideration the challenges presented in Europe from migratory pressures. The report on the European added value of this variety of activities, involving all branches of the state (the executive, the legislative, the judiciary) and civil society, will be a useful tool for all EU member states when designing a comprehensive strategy to combat racism, intolerance and hate crimes.

1.4. EXPECTED RESULTS

(max. 4000 characters)

What are the expected results of the project? Who will benefit from these results and how?

How will the target groups of the project benefit concretely from the project results and what shall change for them?

How will these results contribute to achieving the objectives of the call priority under which you are applying?

Note:

Results are immediate changes that arise for the target groups after the completion of the project (e.g. improved knowledge, increased awareness). Results must be distinguished from deliverables, which are produced with the resources allocated to the project, e.g. training courses, conferences, leaflets.

The project builds on lessons learned and needs identified from the above mentioned project “Building a Comprehensive Criminal Justice Response to Hate Crimes”, which focused on improving criminal justice response to hate crimes. The current project aims to complement the previous project and to form a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crimes.

The project’s expected results can be summarized as follows:

- To establish a comprehensive national strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crimes
- To increase public awareness through a media campaign
- To provide with better information and to raise awareness on victim’s rights, through the Guide for the Rights of Hate Crime Victims and other activities, which will reinforce victims’ access to justice and address under-reporting of hate crimes. The number of reported hate crimes is expected to increase.
- To improve capacity of all relevant stakeholders (targeted communities, public officers, judiciary, Members of the Parliament)
- To improve implementation of national and European respective legislation
- To prevent and combat racism, intolerance and hate crimes more effectively
- To protect and promote human rights and equal citizenship for all persons more effectively
- To produce transferable best practices and results at European level

In particular, the elaboration of a National Action Plan against Racism and Intolerance will contribute to the development of a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crime, by recording all respective institutional interventions based on reliable data and needs, while taking into consideration European best practices.

Moreover, the elaboration of a Guide for the Rights of Hate Crime Victims translated in nine (9) languages will provide better information and awareness raising for all targeted communities. It will lead to increased reporting of hate crime and it will improve victims’ access to justice.

The creation of a Media Plan followed by an awareness raising campaign will undoubtedly raise public awareness, leading to preventing and combating racism, intolerance and hate crimes and to reinforcing victims’ access to justice. The Web page for the National Council against Racism and Xenophobia will complement the latter activity, by constantly providing updated data and information. The training courses for public prosecutors will improve their knowledge and awareness on the subject, but also their ability to effectively prosecute hate crimes. Furthermore, the workshops, the one-day-Conference at the Parliament and the educational meetings of public prosecutors with the targeted communities will promote capacity and trust building, as well as awareness raising. In the Report on the European added value, lessons learned and transferable best practices that derive from the project will be recorded in order to ensure that the project will provide useful results for other EU member states as well. The Evaluation Report will include an overall evaluation of the project’s activities in order to measure its effectiveness, as well as proposals for further actions that will ensure sustainable results.

1.5. EUROPEAN ADDED VALUE

(max. 2000 characters)

What is the project's added value at European level?

How will you ensure that the project methodology and/or deliverables and/or results will be transferable at European level?

Note: European added value of actions, including that of small-scale and national actions, shall be assessed in the light of criteria such as their contribution to the consistent and coherent implementation of Union law, and to wide public awareness about the rights deriving from it, their potential to develop mutual trust among Member States and to improve cross-border cooperation, their transnational impact, their contribution to the elaboration and dissemination of best practices or their potential to contribute to the creation of minimum standards, practical tools and solutions that address cross-border or Union-wide challenges.

The “Report on the European Added Value” of the project, which will be translated in English, will describe the European added value of the project, i.e. the lessons learned and transferable best practices that derive from the project. The project has a considerable European added value since it focuses on the establishment of a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crimes and on actions that will form such a strategy. We consider that the lessons learned from such an effort are valuable for many EU member states that are also facing similar challenges and are intending to form such a comprehensive strategy. European best practices that will be considered for the implementation of the project will also be highlighted, as well as challenges, difficulties and problems that might possibly arise when forming such a comprehensive strategy. On the other hand, the Evaluation Report will provide an overall evaluation of the project, focusing mainly on its effectiveness, with a record of the results produced, the policies that were developed, the positive impacts and the sustainability of results. Therefore, both reports will describe the lessons learned from the project and will highlight best practices. The results of the Report on the European Added Value can be disseminated in other EU Members states in order to ensure the trans-national impact of the project, taking into consideration that positive changes in one country can motivate reform in other EU member States. Moreover, cross-border dialogue will take place at the international Conference which will be organized by the Hellenic Parliament with the participation of members of the Hellenic Parliament, members of the European Parliament, of the CoE Parliamentary Assembly and international experts, being thus a forum for European dialogue.

1.6. METHODOLOGY

Outline the approach and methodology. Explain why this is the best approach to attain the objectives and the proposed results.

Explain the structure and complementarity of the Work Packages.

The project's objectives are to form a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate speech, including capacity and trust building between stakeholders, awareness raising not only of direct interested parties but also of the large public and to go forward with institutional interventions with long term impacts. Thus, a holistic approach concerning the activities that have been included seemed the most appropriate way to proceed and best served our wish to establish Greece as a legitimate Partner in the anti-racist European perspective. Consequently, the project focuses on more than one target group or one kind of activities.

More specifically, the project will be run by the Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights and implemented by a Project Management Team consisting of qualified staff. There are two Partners: the Hellenic Parliament and the Centre for Political Research of the Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences. In addition, the project includes subcontracts to be procured and awarded according to European and national laws. The methodology described below is considered as the best approach to attain the objectives and the proposed results and is approved by all stakeholders (see paper agreement in the Annexes). All three partners are equally qualified for the actions they will undertake and will have the guidance of the Core Project Management Team, in order to ensure that all expected results will be delivered.

This project presents an integrated intervention system in the field of hate speech and hate crime, with five (5) work packages which complement each other. The first one “Management and coordination of the project” determines the way the project’s activities are organized in order to best achieve its objectives.

Work Package number 2, entitled “National Action Plan against Racism and Intolerance”, includes the elaboration of a National Plan in the above-mentioned field. The Action Plan will be drafted by an expert, who will also undertake its translation into English. It will be printed in 500 copies to be disseminated and also uploaded on the websites of the National Council against Racism and Intolerance and the Ministry of Justice, making it easily accessible to all.

Work package 3, entitled “Awareness raising – Publicity”, proposes three deliverables. Firstly, a media plan defining ways to convey the message of combating racism and intolerance. The Media Plan will predetermine all media actions and means to achieve them. It will be elaborated by an expert. An awareness campaign will follow the Media Plan’s instructions on how to diffuse the communication messages to the target groups. The campaign will be subcontracted to third parties. In addition, a Web page for the National Council against Racism and Xenophobia will be developed by an expert, in order to provide information to stakeholders as well as promote the awareness raising campaign. The Web page will feature a visitors’ counter as well as a link to the Web page of the Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights.

Work package 4, entitled “Capacity and Trust Building”, includes various capacity and trust building actions:

- A Guide for the Rights of Victims of Hate Crimes, drafted by an expert in Greek. The Guide will be translated into nine (9) languages (the Translation Department of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs will translate the Guide into English, French, Arabic, Albanian, Russian and Georgian, and freelance translators in Farsi, Urdu and Pashto). The printing of the Guide will be assigned to a subcontractor.
- Capacity building workshops to communities and respective NGOs concerning the rights of victims. Three workshops will be organized by the Centre of Political Research of the Panteion University, with the cooperation of the National Council against Racism and Intolerance: Two (2) workshops on the rights of victims of hate crimes, based on the Guide for the Rights of Hate Crime Victims, and one (1) workshop concerning the elaboration of the National Action Plan against Racism and Intolerance (capacity building for the Administration), all to be held in the premises of the Panteion University.
- Educational and trust building meetings of communities and respective NGOs with public prosecutors. Six (6) educational and trust building meetings will be held in order for prosecutors to inform the communities about the rights of victims of hate crimes and the procedures for reporting a crime. The prosecutors will meet with the communities in their own premises, in small groups with a direct, immediate, in-person exchange, in order to build trust towards the judiciary and law enforcement authorities.
- Two training courses for prosecutors concerning hate crimes will be organized, so that prosecutors are able to effectively investigate and prosecute hate crime and hate speech cases (capacity building actions for the prosecutors)
- An international conference concerning the role of Members of the Parliaments in combatting racism, intolerance, as well as hate speech will be organized by the Hellenic Parliament. Members of the Hellenic Parliament, Members of the European Parliament, Members of the CoE Parliamentary Assembly and international experts (e.g. Members of the European Commission against Racism and Intolerance - ECRI) will participate. The participants will exchange views and European best practices on the role of Parliaments in combatting racism, intolerance and hate speech. The one-day-conference will have live television coverage. Models and mechanisms which can be applied not only regionally or nationally but also EU widely, will be presented. The aim of the conference is to raise awareness and capacity of MPs, in order to combat racism, intolerance and hate speech.

Work package 5, entitled “Program Evaluation,” contains two reports: an Evaluation Report assessing the project, recording the results produced and providing proposals for future actions based on actions implemented, and a Report on European Added Value, proposing lessons learned and best practices derived by the project, including proposals and actions that need to be undertaken for the results' sustainability. The two reports will be elaborated by the Centre for Political Research of the Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences, which will monitor and gather all documents (questionnaires, rapports, reviews, etc.) and electronic files, as to process them and proceed to the afore-mentioned deliverables.

As known, Work Packages interconnect and complement each other, presenting a coherent structure broken down to five (5) interdependent Work Packages, which aim at presenting a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate speech and effectively preventing hate crimes.

1.7. TIMELINE BY WORK PACKAGE

(max. 2000 characters)

Provide in a structured manner the timing of the activities per work package by using, for instance, a Gantt chart.

1.8. THE PARTNERSHIP AND THE CORE PROJECT TEAM

(max. 4000 characters)

Describe the partnership of organisations implementing the project (applicant, partners). Explain how the partners were selected, and why is this partnership the best to attain the objectives of the project. Describe the value of the partnership, its strengths/weaknesses, the organisational arrangements within the partnership and how you will ensure coordination within the partnership.

Introduce the persons of the core project team and list the CVs (to be attached to the application) of the key people working in the project (project manager, financial manager and the key experts).

The three co-beneficiaries Partners for the project are the Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights, the Hellenic Parliament, and the Centre for Political Research of Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences.

The Parliament is the supreme democratic Institution that represents the citizens through an elected body of Members of Parliament (MPs). The legislative work, namely voting of Bills and Law Proposals and the exercise of parliamentary control over the Government, are the core Parliament activities.

The Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights was initially established as the State Justice Secretariat in April 1833. The General Secretariat for Human Rights of the Hellenic Ministry of Justice is responsible for undertaking initiatives for the promotion, protection and fulfillment of human rights, as well as for the compliance to international human rights obligations. To this end, the General Secretariat for Human Rights, is responsible among others to elaborate policy priorities and lines of actions for the promotion and protection of human rights, undertake the respective legislative and administrative initiatives, monitor the compliance to international human rights obligations and undertake actions to promote and protect human rights, through, inter alia, National Action Plans.

The Centre for Political Research was founded in 1989 with resolution of the Senate of Panteion University (19-4-1989). Since August 2015 the Centre for Political Research has been established as a 'Laboratory' of Political Sociology and Comparative Political Analysis. The Centre aims at contributing to the continuous improvement of teaching and researching activities of the Department of Political Science and History, in collaboration with its personnel, its undergraduate and graduate students, as well as with other operating research centers, at cooperating with other educational, research and scientific institutions in general and other public and private institutions in Greece and abroad, on subjects of common interest related to political - sociological research and dissemination of election results, at undertaking any other appropriate initiative to achieve the objectives, subjected always to the rules of the academic and research ethics.

The Ministry of Justice is charged with the development of legislative initiative in basic justice sectors, in which is included the harmonization of internal law with the rules of international law. It is entrusted with the management of judicial function, which is one of the three State functions. The Hellenic Parliament is the supreme democratic institution that represents the citizens through an elected body of Members of Parliament. The legislative is the second one of the three State functions and most important for the harmonization of Greek with European legislation. On the other hand, the Centre for Political Research of Panteion University aims at the designing and conducting of political and sociological research, thus supporting the empowerment of institutional intervention. Therefore, the three partners will act supplementarily in attaining the proposal's objectives. As for the partnership weaknesses, there is always a risk of disagreements and friction among partners.

The coordination within the Partnership will be ensured by the core project team, constituted by: The Project Manager designs and leads the program of activities. He ensures the quality of implementation/project products, provides reporting, supervises project staff, advises on policy matters, liaises with partners to combine resources and prevents overlaps.

The Senior Project Assistant monitors administrative roll-out including sub-contracting and ensures compliance with grant agreement.

The Budget Assistant maintains financial overview to enable efficient implementation of the project, reviews expenditure for re-allocation of funds as needed, reconciles expenses and prepares financial reports for review by project staff.

The Project Assistant provides project management/logistical support for the predetermined activities.

All the CVs of the core project team are attached to the Annexes.

The three partners will recruit all staff at project start. Additional expertise will be provided at no cost by the Ministry of Justice.

1.9. SUBCONTRACTING

(max. 2000 characters)

If applicable, explain the reasons for any subcontracting in your project.

The present project includes subcontracting in the following Work Packages:

- In Work Package 2, subcontracting is applied for the printing of the National Action Plan against Racism and Intolerance.
- In Work Package 3, subcontracting is applied for the running of the awareness campaign.
- In Work Package 4, subcontracting is applied for the printing of the Guide for the Rights of Hate Crime Victims and for additional services required in the events (for instance catering services).
- In Work Package 5, subcontracting is applied for the printing of the Evaluation Report and the Report on the European Added Value.

It is easy to comprehend that subcontracting exists on the grounds of providing expertise and qualified staff in order to undertake all the activities described in the project. In particular, certain of the project's activities cannot be performed by the entities involved due to the lack of qualifications and know-how of the staff, and the insufficiency of the necessary equipment. Therefore, subcontracting is a rational and cost-effective solution to achieve the project's objectives within time limits. Subcontracting will be assigned to specialized Legal Entities and persons qualified for the particular tasks. Moreover, subcontracts will be procured and awarded according to European and national law.

1.10. MONITORING OF THE PROJECT IMPLEMENTATION, RISKS AND MEASURES TO MITIGATE THEM

(max 2000 characters)

How will you ensure that the project is implemented as planned and what methods will you use to monitor its progress?

What are the potential risks and what action do you plan to undertake to mitigate them?

The implementation phase is the phase where the deliverables are realized, and requires for the project plan to be thoroughly checked. As we strongly believe that the present project is one with a clear scope, activities, implementation process and well-defined objectives, the implementation is expected to be precise and well performed. Careful monitoring and control processes will be ensured through the edition of twelve (12) bimonthly implementation reports so as to assure that the final deliverables meet the initial action plan. Routine performance and quality control measurements will be evaluated on a regular basis through gathering reports, thus achieving adequate monitoring throughout the implementation. Moreover, the fact that there is subcontracting to the project provides objective oversight and contributes to project's better implementation. The Project Management Team constituted by well-trained staff will ensure the stakeholders' cooperation and arrange all meetings with the Partners. It will also gather information, assign tasks to specific people and have a good overview of the resources. It will also collect, register and certify physical cost implementation, and keep a file of supporting documents.

Potential risks are delays of the stakeholders involved to provide input or data and delays in gathering the material that will be uploaded in NCRI's webpage. Moreover, identifying the key public officers to participate to the workshop on the elaboration of the Action Plan may function negatively. In addition, the Media plan needs to take into account the specific purpose of the awareness raising campaign. Identifying motivated participants for the international conference and public prosecutors with good communication skills for the educational meetings with the communities constitutes a challenge.

To avoid all the above, the Core Project Team will comply with the submitted action plan by means of real time monitoring and analysis of the project implementation's progress. We will ensure the commitment of every member of Project management Team and direct stakeholders through often and direct communication and will prioritize teamwork.

1.11. EVALUATION OF THE PROJECT ACTIVITIES, DELIVERABLES AND RESULTS

(max. 2000 characters)

How will the project activities, the deliverables and the results be evaluated, and by whom?

Explain which quantitative and qualitative indicators you propose to use for the evaluation of the reach and coverage of project activities and project results.

Explain what data will be collected, according to what method and at what moments, including feedback from project participants (satisfaction surveys, evaluation forms, etc).

How will findings be analysed and reported and how will they be used.

Note: For the evaluation of the activities you will be requested to use the participation evaluation questionnaire to be provided by the Commission.

You must identify which indicators you will use from the list provided in the Indicators excel sheet and include them in the indicators of your project. You will be asked to report on those indicators as part of the project's Final Report.

Where relevant, data must be disaggregated by gender and by age.

The project activities, the outputs and results will be evaluated by the Centre for Political Research of Panteion University of Social and Political Sciences. The Centre will elaborate an Evaluation Report concerning the project's progress and implementation. How the project activities have effectively resulted in combating racism, intolerance and hate crimes will be assessed, using these results – level indicators:

- 93 questionnaires for the 3 workshops, the two of them related to the Guide for the Rights of Hate Crime Victims and the third for the National Action Plan against Racism and Intolerance,
- 1 report for the one-day-Conference about Parliament Members' role in combatting racism,
- 12 project progress review meetings of the Project Management Team,
- 12 bimonthly reports,
- 180 questionnaires for the 6 educational meetings between public prosecutors and communities and respective NGOs,
- 42 questionnaires for the 2 training courses for public prosecutors,

- 4 budget/expenditure reports,
- Web page visitors counter.

Each project event will be evaluated on site by participants, trainers and host institution using special questionnaires. Evaluation will also refer to project process, implementation and involvement of stakeholders, the identification of strengths and weaknesses. It will be based on project documentation (agendas, training materials, participants' lists, project progress review meeting minutes, questionnaires/feedback, conference report, budget/expenditure reports, etc.). It will look at project process, implementation and involvement of stakeholders, how it worked operationally, how networks were built and sustained, identifying strengths/weaknesses.

1.12. DISSEMINATION STRATEGY AND COMMUNICATION TOOLS

How do you plan to disseminate (actively spread) information about the project, its activities and its results? Please specify in particular:

- Communication needs and objectives: What are the communication needs and objectives of the project?
- Target groups and multipliers: What are the target groups? Which stakeholders or other organisations could possibly be supporters and multipliers of the communication activities?
- Key messages: Which messages will the activities convey in order to meet the communication objectives?
- Distribution channels/tools: Which communication channels/tools will be used to convey the messages to your target groups and multipliers?
- How will your dissemination strategy facilitate further use and transferability of the project results?

The project's dissemination strategy is presented in Work Package 3 entitled "Awareness Raising – Publicity". First deliverable will be the elaboration of a Media Plan which will describe the objectives, the strategy and the media schedule, and will determine the best way to convey a message to the target audience. Second deliverable will be the awareness raising campaign against racism and intolerance, which will be implemented according to the guidelines of the Media Plan. Third deliverable will be the Web Page for the National Council against Racism and Intolerance, which apart from providing information to the public, will also present the deliverables of the project (the National Action Plan, the Guide for the Victims of hate crimes, etc.) and will promote the awareness raising campaign. Moreover, it will be linked to the Webpage of the Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights. The website will be constantly updated, thus ensuring that the information provided is up-to-date, and the number of visits will be recorded as an indicator for the website's effectiveness. In general, as project activities include public information and awareness raising per se, the project's communication objectives are to diffuse information and achieve publicity of all project's activities as much as possible.

In addition, the international conference organized by the Hellenic Parliament will have live television coverage, communicating not only to members of Hellenic Parliament and other European institutions, but also to the general public, real data conclusions and proposals concerning racism and intolerance. The Guide on the Rights of Hate crimes victims will be distributed in civil society organizations, the Hellenic Police, prosecutor offices, public hospitals and migrants' Reception Centers (the so called "hot-spots"). Furthermore, the two workshops organized by the Centre for Political Research of Panteion University concerning the rights of victims of hate crimes, as well as the six educational meetings of public prosecutors with targeted communities will also disseminate the Guide.

The National Action Plan against Racism and Intolerance will be printed in 500 copies to be disseminated and will be uploaded on the websites of the National Council against Racism and Intolerance and the Ministry of Justice to be publicly available. Moreover, the workshop organized by the Centre for Political Research concerning the elaboration of the Action Plan will also present it to the participants.

Furthermore, the Ministry of Justice will promote the project's activities in every suitable occasion (e.g. public speeches of the political leadership of the Ministry of Justice, reference to the project in national reports to international organizations, in parliamentary scrutiny, etc.). This is expected by other high ranking officers involved in the project as well (e.g. the President of the Parliament). In general, since the project's activities form a part of Greece's national policy against racism, intolerance and hate crimes, they will be widely disseminated by state agents in Greece and abroad. Attention will be also paid to internal communication. There will be twelve meetings with the partners and the Project Team, ensuring that all involved stakeholders communicate on a regular basis.

Depending on each activity, the target groups of the dissemination strategy include:

- The public
- Targeted communities
- Civil society organizations
- The judiciary
- Public officers, and
- Members of the Parliament.

Lastly, all target groups are expected to be supporters and multipliers of the visibility of the project's activities.

1.13. SUSTAINABILITY AND LONG-TERM IMPACT OF THE PROJECT RESULTS

(max. 2000 characters)

What is planned as follow-up of the project after the financial support of the European Union has ended? How will the sustainability of the project's results be assured? Are the project results likely to have a long-term impact? How?

Note: In this part you should not list activities or deliverables of your project, but you should focus on the expected long-term impact of your project. The long-term impact refers to long-term socio-economic consequences that can be observed after a certain period following the completion of the project and may affect either the target groups of the project or other groups falling outside the boundary of the project, who may be winners or losers.

First of all, the present project builds on the results of the above mentioned project "Building a Comprehensive Criminal Justice Response to Hate Crimes". This demonstrates the commitment of the Ministry of Justice to follow up on previous projects and to build on their results in a constructive and effective way.

The project includes institutional interventions with long term impacts. Moreover, the implementation of the Action Plan will be monitored by the National Council against Racism and Intolerance, which has already been established. This will ensure the sustainability and long - term effects of the national strategy against racism and intolerance. Furthermore, the material produced in the context of the project (e.g. the Guide) will be used long after the termination of the project.

In addition to the above, the capacity building and awareness raising activities of the project are expected to have long term results not only for the direct beneficiaries of the respective activities, but also for other members of the respective target group. For instance, prosecutors will be trained as trainers, so that they will be able to train themselves other prosecutors in the future. The trust building educational meetings between public prosecutors and targeted communities will also increase victims' access to justice in the future and will improve the cooperation between victims, NGOs and law enforcement agents.

Apart from that, following the day conference, there will be gathering of information about the reaction of citizens towards the discussed legal initiatives with simple visualised examples, attraction of citizens' opinions, who have lost their interest in politics, presentation of the project in schools and universities (visitors of Hellenic Parliament Foundation), and promotion as well as effective networking across the European Union with the contribution of news agencies, media, universities, technological companies and non-governmental organizations.

Additionally, the awareness raising campaign is expected to combat social stereotypes and to change obsolete perceptions. Finally, both the Evaluation Report and the Report on the European Added Value of the project will also focus on the issues of sustainability and long-term results and will provide proposals to guarantee such results.

1.14. ETHICAL ISSUES RELATED TO THE PROJECT

(max. 2000 characters)

Describe any ethical issues which you could come across during the implementation of your project, including with regard to interactions with target groups or persons benefiting from the project, and present your strategy to address them.

We do not expect to come across ethical issues. In the lifetime of similar projects no ethical issue have been raised by any partner or potential person or organisation. In any case security and privacy concerns will be thoroughly considered. We will ensure that short term considerations do not prevail long term considerations, in particular around implementation risks and security loopholes. The solutions will be designed to maximise the trust of stakeholders. Security will take into account: electronic and physical security, ensuring the traffic of data and the execution of processes are protected against malevolent third parties; and principles of personal data protection guaranteeing that interactions of (end) users are secure, respect privacy policies, are based on user-consent and provide for mechanisms of redress.

1.15. MAINSTREAMING

(max. 2000 characters)

How do you plan to ensure mainstreaming of equality between women and men and the rights of the child, and respect of the Charter of Fundamental Rights in the activities of your project?

Gender perspective has been taken into consideration during the decision-making process and the preparation of the present application. All activities proposed refer equally to both women and men. Moreover, gender-mainstreaming will be taken into account in the implementation of all activities of the project. Gender can be the single or one of multiple grounds of racism and discrimination. Moreover, the role of gender in hate crimes will also be addressed. Gender equality will also be promoted in the National Action Plan against Racism and Intolerance. All communication tools will give prominence to gender mainstreaming, in order to avoid the creation or reinforcement of inequalities.

Moreover, children related issues will also be addressed in each respective activity. For instance, hate crimes involving children will be approached both as hate crimes and as crimes against children, requiring additional guarantees in order to avoid secondary victimization.

The Charter of Fundamental Rights, the European Convention on Human Rights and other international human rights conventions, as well as guidelines and recommendations of human rights bodies and expert groups will also be taken into consideration for the implementation of the activities.

1.16. DESCRIPTION OF CHILD PROTECTION POLICY

IF APPLICABLE (max. 2000 characters)

If the applicant and/or any of the partners work directly with/have contact with children, provide a description of the child protection policy of these organisations, covering the following topics:

- purpose of the child protection policy;
- application of the policy (applicable to which staff, in which situations);
- responsibility: who is responsible for ensuring that the policy is adhered to;
- description of recruitment and screening processes with regard to child protection policy (details of training on child protection policy and rights of the child, screening, vetting (criminal background check). Preventing harm to children: processes exist to help minimise the possibility of children being abused by those in positions of trust.

Part 2 – Description of work packages and activities

In Part 2 describe in detail the activities that you will undertake in order to achieve the objectives you described in Part 1 of this document. This section is divided into several work packages (WP), i.e.: set of activities leading to one or more specific deliverables that you wish to produce.

Any project will have a minimum of two WP: Work Package 1 with the management and coordination activities and Work Package 2 with deliverables related to the objective of your project. (This does not imply that a project with just two WP will necessarily score low). The division should be logical and guided by the different identifiable results of an activity. The application form contains boxes for projects with up to 5 Work Packages (including management and coordination). If you think your project has more than 5 WP, please try to group them to be able to present them in the space provided.

Under each WP you should then enter an objective, list specific activities that you will undertake and list the expected deliverables, milestones and critical risks.

► WORK PACKAGE 1 - MANAGEMENT AND COORDINATION OF THE PROJECT

Work Package 1 is intended for all activities related to the general management and coordination of the project (kick-off meetings, coordination, project monitoring and evaluation, financial management) and all the activities which are cross cutting and therefore difficult to assign just to one specific Work Package. In such case, instead of splitting them across many Work Packages, please enter and describe them in Work Package 1. For this reason, this Work Package has a different layout, where you do not have to enter objectives and duration. Nevertheless, it will have its own deliverables and corresponding budget.

1	Development of a media plan for an awareness-raising campaign against racism, intolerance and hate crime. Such a campaign should include the most appropriate publicity activities, taking into consideration the nature of the phenomenon that it seeks to combat. The media plan should take into account successful campaigns against racism, intolerance and hate crimes that have been conducted in other countries, not only by states, but also by international organizations or NGOs. The media plan will determine the best way to convey a message to the target audience and set out a systematic process that synchronizes all contributing elements in order to achieve the campaign's goal.	Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights
2	Awareness raising campaign against racism and intolerance. The campaign will be conducted based on the aforementioned Media Plan. The target of the campaign is to raise awareness of the general population against racism, intolerance and hate crimes and to provide information. The campaign will be one of the elements complementing a comprehensive national strategy. Moreover, through the campaign, the state will express a zero tolerance policy against these phenomena.
3	Creation of a website for the National Council Against Racism and Intolerance. As mentioned above, the National Council against Racism and Intolerance (NCRI), is an inter-ministerial body established in 2015 following the recommendation of the European Commission against Racism and Intolerance of the Council of Europe. NCRI is Greece's most important body on these issues. It is tasked, among others, with the development of policies on preventing and combatting racism and intolerance. It consists of representatives of the relevant Ministries and civil society actors. Therefore, NCRI is the most appropriate body to provide information on issues concerning racism, intolerance and hate crimes, policies, legislation and victim's rights. Moreover, it has already undertaken important actions that need to be disseminated. For this reason, a webpage providing publicly available information on these issues is most useful. There will also be a direct link with the webpage of Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights.

HELLENIC REPUBLIC
MINISTRY OF JUSTICE, TRANSPARENCY AND HUMAN RIGHTS

ATHENS, 21/9/ 2018

SECRETARY GENERAL FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

To whom it may concern

Letter of Support

Re: The application of the Hellenic Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights for the call entitled "Restricted call for proposals for public authorities on preventing and combating racism, xenophobia and other forms of intolerance, and in particular hate crime and hate speech - REC-RRAC-HATE-AG-2018"

I would like hereby to express my support to the application of the Hellenic Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights for the above mentioned call.

The Greek Government, and in particular the leadership of the Ministry of Justice, is determined to combat racism, intolerance and hate crimes. For this reason it has undertaken various institutional and legislative initiatives.

For instance, at the initiative of the Secretary General for Human Rights, the Hellenic Ministry of Justice participates as a Partner to the project "Building a Comprehensive Criminal Justice Response to Hate Crimes" which is conducted by the Office of Democratic Institutions and Human Rights (ODIHR) of OSCE in the context of «JUST/2015/RRAC/AG, Action grants to prevent and combat racism, xenophobia, homophobia and other forms of intolerance, RIGHTS, EQUALITY AND CITIZENSHIP/JUSTICE PROGRAMME (2014-2020)». The experience that the Hellenic Ministry of Justice has gained from the above mentioned project is valuable and the preliminary results of that project are quite impressive.

However, we believe that all these measures and initiatives should form a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crimes. Therefore, building upon our prior experience from the above mentioned project, the lessons learned and the needs identified, the Hellenic Ministry of Justice decided to apply to the present call, for the first time as a Leader.

The primary and overarching objective of the application is to form a comprehensive strategy against racism, intolerance and hate crime. This will be the first time that such a strategy is elaborated in Greece. The various activities included in the application are some of the activities that such a comprehensive strategy should entail.

For these reasons, I strongly support the application of the Hellenic Ministry of Justice, Transparency and Human Rights and I am committed to work for its successful implementation and for the visibility and promotion of its activities.

Yours sincerely,
